Geary Chinese Act to Be Strictly Enforced.

Chinamen Slow to Avail Themselves of the Opportunity Offered Them to Take Out Certificates of Registration—The Day of Grace Approaching.

Washington, April 10.—There is con-siderable work ahead for the treasury department if it intends to enforce to the letter the Geary Chinese exclusion set, which provides for the deportation of those Chinese laborers now here who fail to register and show their right to be in the United States within one year from the passage of the act. May 5 is the last day, according to the act, when Chinese laborers may register.

Chinamen are slow to avail themselves of the opportuity afforded them to take out certificates of registration, and the latest advices received at the treasury department indicate that not more than a few thousand of the hundred or more thousand believed to be in the United States have taken the necessary steps. The department has not, however, taken any action anticipatory of the probable failure of the Chinese to register, and in this, like in other matters, is "not crossing any bridge before it is reached."

Indeed, it appears doubtful if any-thing will be done before the date above named, and it is likely that action may be deferred until the case that is to be brought in a New York court to test the constitutionality of the act is decided.

The department yielded several points in the Chinaman's favor yesterday, when it issued an order dispensing with the regulation requiring applifurnish photographs of themselves and requiring the affidavit of only one creditable witness to be fact of lawful residence in the country, instead of two as

JEFF DAVIS' REMAINS.

Arrangements for Their Removal Frem New Orleans to Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., April 10. - The executive committee of Lee camp, in charge of the arrangements for the removal of the remains of Jefferson Davis from New Orleans to this city, has completed the details of the programms. Gen. John B. Gordon, of Georgia, will be chief marshal, and Gov. Philip W. Mo-Kinney, of Virginia, chairman of the committee on invitations and reception. The commanders of all confederate camps of this state are to be members of this committee. It is not yet known at what points the funeral train will stop, but the governor of each state through which it passes will accompany it through their respective states, thereby giving official approval of the conveyance through their borders. The cortege will leave New Orleans May 23, and will reach this city on the evening of the 80th. The casket will be borne to the state capitol, which will be appropriately decorated, and where a guard of onor from Lee Camp and Pickett Camp of Confederate Veterans will watch is during the night.

BLOOD-SUCKING BATS.

Differing Stories About the Vampires of South America

Many Species of the Queer Creat Which Are Harmiess and Sven Useful Are Regarded as Ever since the South American con-tinent was discovered, especially that part of it lying between the Amazon and Orinoco rivers, travelers have come from there with wonderful tales of the vampires, or, as they call them, bloodsucking bats. As a fact, little is known about these pests, says the New York Tribune. That there are bloodsucking bats which feed not only on the blood of man but also animals is an undoubted fact, and though the writer himself has never been bitten by one, he has, while traveling in the interior of British Guiana, seen Indiana and ponies that had undoubtedly been bitten by these pests. In the case of a man attacked the toe or nose is the point punctured, while animals are liable to be bitten anywhere. How the bat does its work has not been made clear, for no man has yet awakened while being operated on by one of these bats, despite the fact that considerable blood is extracted and more or less loss of blood takes place after the opera-tion. It is probable that the bat hovers during the operation rather than rests on the body. The rapid vibration of the soft wings probably also has a soothing effect upon the skin of the part operated on.

The blood-suckers belong to only two or three species, and wherever these are found there are also many others whose food is only fruit or insects, or both. The most natural mistake about the bats which are innocent or preying on man or beast is the common supposition that vampyrus spectrum is a bloodsucker. The stretch of wings of this bat frequently reaches three feet, and it has a most ferocious aspect, with enor-mously large and pointed canine teeth. It is perfectly certain that in most parts of British Guaina this bat is only a fruit eater and is a serious pest to fruit growers. Bates and Edwards, who traveled much in that country, vouch for its harmlessness, and the writer could never hear of a case where one of these giant bats was even suspected of being a blood-sucker. Wallace, however, gives a different account. "The vampires are especially plentiful in the Amazon valley. Their carniverous propensities were once discredited, but are too well authenticated. Horses and cattle are often bitten, and we found them in the morning covered with blood, and repeated attacks weaken and ultimately destroy them. Some persons are especially subject to the attacks of these bats, and as native hute are never sufficiently close to keep them out, those unfortunate persons are obliged to sleep completely muffled up in order to avoid being made seriously ill or even losing their lives." Wallace, in saying that "the buts are never sufficiently close to keep them out," evidently uses the word vampire as a generic term and does not mean the vampyrus spectrum, for that bat would find no space large enough to let him into even the loosely built huts of the natives. It is this slipshed way of using the word vampire that brings trouble to many a useful bat. The writer has been in a house where every precaution was taken to keep out bats which would have been a perfect blessing in the rooms, as they would have caught hundreds of mosquitoes.

ONLY SALVINI KNEW IT.

American on Board Could Recite

"The Star Spangled Banner." The lack of knowledge on the part of the average American of patriotic literature and national lyrics is aptly illustrated by a story told by Senator George Handy Smith at a social session in Harrisburg one day recently, a Philadelphia Record man being present. Senator Smith had as his guest on the occasion the well-known actor, Alexander Salvini, who was visting the state capital and who was the hero of the story. "When I came over from my annual trip to Europe last summer I made the journey across the ocean in the steamer New York," said the senator. "Mr. Salvini was one of the passengers. During the voyage an entertain-ment for the benefit of the Scamen's home was arranged, and everybody volunteered to take part in it. The people who managed the affair wanted some one to recite 'The Star Spangled Banner,' but came to the conclusion to strike it off the programme, when, after a thorough search among the America passengers, not a single one could be found who knew the words of the famous song. Mr. Salvini learned of the difficulty, and, to the surprise everybody on board, told them h would fill that part of the bill. He re cited the poem with great effect an knew every word of it. He had learn it, he said, as soon as he was able speak the English language."

OHIO LEGISLATURE

COLUMBUS, April 4.—SENATE—A comical effort was made to hold a session of the senate Monday afternoon in pursuance of last Friday's adjournment. It was useless, however, for too many members had descended from the sphere of senatorial dignity to that of ward politics, and consequently were not present. A half dozen senators assembled at 5 o'clock and went through the motions of transacting business, but beyond the presentation of a proposition to increase the local indebtedness of Hamilton county, $60,000, very little was done.

House—The house does not meet until 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when it is supposed that election festivities will have ended.

COLUMBUS. April 5.—SENATE—Several bills were passed Tuesday, mostly of a local nature, among them the following: To transfer funds at Greenville: for two roads in Clarmont county: to correct an error in the act to permit mine quarry operators to cross roads; to amend section 3376, relating to the transportation of passengers or property, so as to provide that any company which refuses for a longer time than forty-eight hours after being duly requested to switch any car or cars shall pay a sum equal to twice the amount of the overcharge.

House—Bills introduced: Providing that a right of action which arises under the law of any other state by reason of the wrongful act, neglect or default of persons or corporations in such other state, and death results, and at such time the representative of such person is a resident of this state, suit for damages may be brought in this state; providing that in the sale

Take one candid thought before it is too fate. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstituate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

To MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep riffing with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.
